Virginia Commonwealth University serves the Richmond area, the state and the nation through teaching, research, service and patient care.

VCU supports comprehensive undergraduate, graduate and professional programs as well as one of the largest academic health centers in the nation. With more than $227 million a year in sponsored research funding, VCU is designated as a university with high research activity by the Carnegie Foundation.

Nearly 32,000 students pursue more than 200 degree and certificate programs through the university's 15 schools and one college.

VCU has a full-time faculty of more than 1,700 who are nationally and internationally recognized for excellence in the humanities, the life sciences, engineering, education, social work, business and all the health care professions.

With an annual budget exceeding $1.5 billion and with more than 17,000 employees, VCU also serves as a significant economic enterprise in the Richmond area. Moreover, two-thirds of its more than 125,000 alumni live and work in Virginia.

VCU has been engaged in long-range strategic planning, resulting in such initiatives as a visionary master-site plan, the Virginia BioTechnology

Research Park, the School of Engineering, the Carver-VCU Partnership for neighborhood

The university was also recognized for leadership in community and economic development in the 2002 report, "Leveraging Colleges and Universities for Urban Economic Revitalization: An Action Agenda," by CEOs for Cities and the Initiative for a Competitive Inner City. The report featured two case studies: VCU and Columbia University.

Report, local, regional and national guides to the medical-care programs from U.S. News & World Report, local, regional and national guides to the best hospitals and best doctors; and professional societies and journals.

VCU and VCU Health System continue a history of excellence, receiving national recognition for top-quality graduate, professional and medical-care programs from U.S. News & World Report, local, regional and national guides to the best hospitals and best doctors; and professional societies and journals.

VCU's long-range planning also has sought to protect the future of the clinical health care mission, including providing top-quality patient care, indigent-care services and support for the teaching and research mission. The result is VCU Health System, established on July 1, 2000, encompassing all the clinical activities of the MCV Hospitals and Physicians and VCU's School of Medicine.

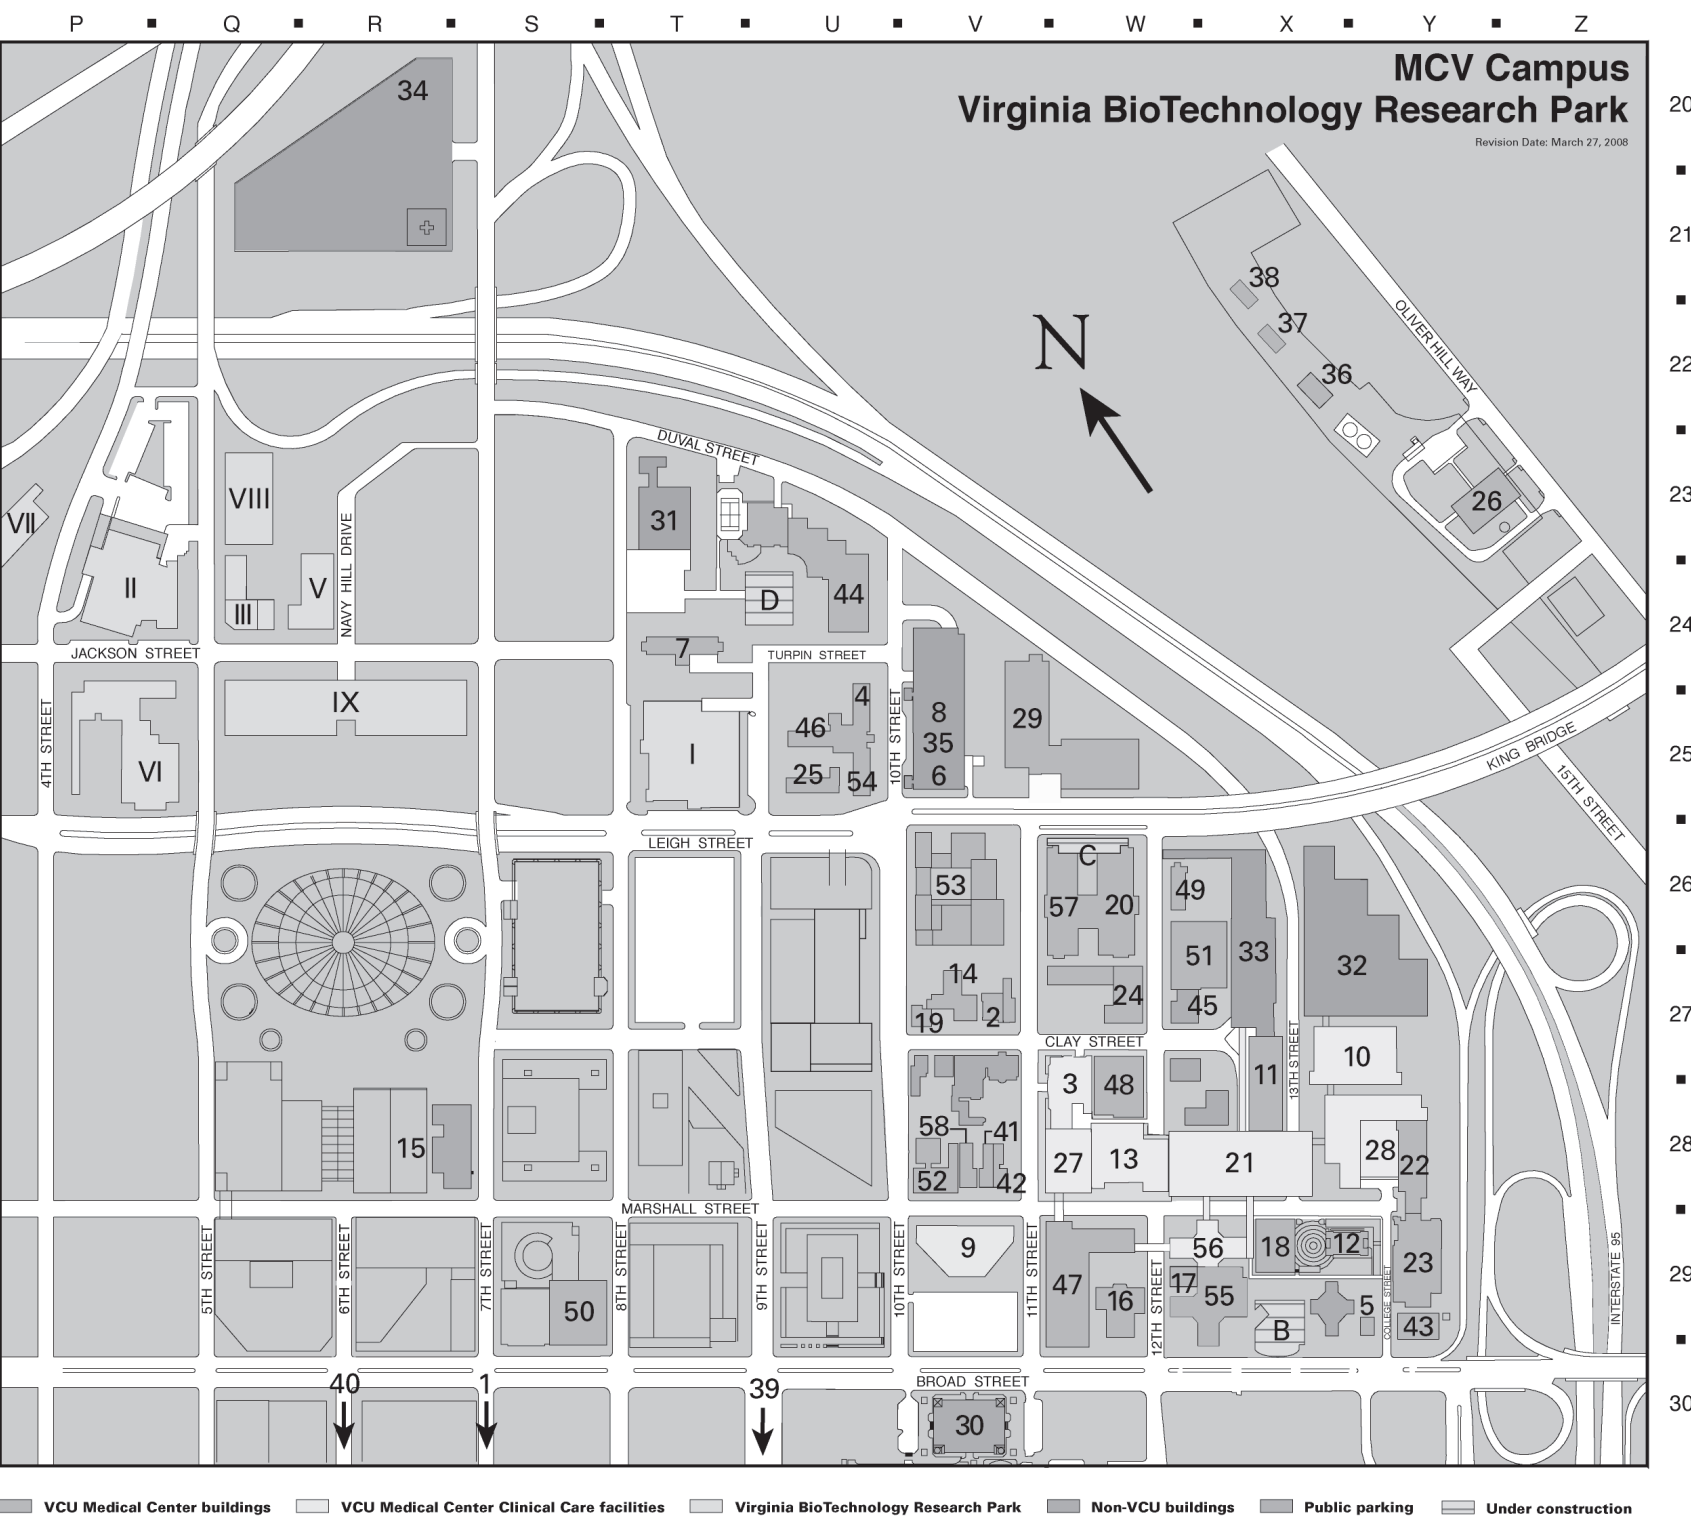

VCU has a full-time faculty of more than 1,700 who are nationally and internationally recognized
